HUNT MISSING WITNESS IN SHEPHERD CASE

ORDER PROBE OF FAIMAN'S BODY GUARD

News Vender Says Robert White Had Offer of $25,000 to Leave for Florida

ALLEGED OTHER BRIBES

McClintock Murder Case Is Halted by Funeral of Former Court Clerk

Chicago—State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe Wednesday ordered a special session of the grand jury for 3:30 p. m., presumably to investigate the disappearance of Robert White, state witness in the trial of William D. Shepherd, charged with the murder of William N. McClintock White Wednesday was reported to have been found by the defense.

State's Attorney Crowe later admitted that the special session was called to investigate the disappearance of White. He said that only did the state want to find what had become of White, but "who, if anyone, had been tampering with him." He added that he did not know where White was, or if he was being detained by any one, except that the state was not holding him.

Every available investigator was sent out to search for White. His mysterious disappearance was in line with other intimations and efforts to bribe state witnesses. The state's attorney had pointed out that an effort had been made to kidnap Dr. George Folsberg by luring him from his office by a fake telephone call, and that more recently Miss Gladys Roberts, former secretary for a detective agency, was beaten after she had testified she had heard her employer tell Shepherd to tell one story and stick to it.

OFFERED BRIBE

Earl P. Clark, former salesman for Faiman's school, reported recently he had been offered a bribe of $12,000 if he would make affidavit that the entire prosecution against Shepherd was "framed."

Shepherd's attorneys, William Scott Stewart and W. W. O'Brien, denied knowledge of White's whereabouts or what made him disappear. They asserted White was wanted as a material witness for the defense.

"If any one suggests that his absence is in any way brought about by some one connected with the defense, we would say that any such conduct by any one connected with the defense would be ill-advised, because this witness would materially assist and bear out the theory of the defense," said a statement issued by Stewart and O'Brien.

Information has been obtained that White, with his wife and two children, abandoned his home and vanished with a rented automobile last Friday. A letter, written by Mrs. White to Mrs. Marie Budlove, a friend, said, "We had to leave; our lives were in danger." Mrs. Budlove has turned the letter over to the prosecutor.

TENDERED BUNGALOW

The Chicago Herald and Examiner says it learned from William Adams, a blind news vender, of an alleged $25,000 offer made to White 10 days ago to leave for Florida. The offer included a furnished bungalow which would be given him on his arrival there. Adams said White told him, "Adams quoted White as saying he would accept 'if they mean business.'"

White was known as the body guard of C. C. Faiman, science school teacher, who confessed he supplied the phony fever germs to Shepherd and taught him how to administer them. White and Shepherd at one time nearly came to blows when they confronted each other and White identified Shepherd as the man he had seen at Faiman's school.

Thirty-six witnesses have been examined to obtain three tentative juries. A verdict of an alleged $25,000 for cause, two by state's attorneys' challenges and one by a peremptory challenge by the defense.

The funeral of J. A. Bidwell, former circuit court clerk, postponed the opening of Wednesday's session of the trial to 2 p. m.

RUM SHIPS DRIVEN TO HALIFAX

DRY CAMPAIGN CONTINUES ON SEA AND LAND

Believe Rum Row Has Been Cleaned Up—Boats Become Excursion Craft

By Associated Press
New York—Rum ships, driven from off American shores by the coast guard blockade are jamming Halifax harbor as one result of the determination of the administration from President Coolidge down to enforce prohibition to the limit.

Thirteen steamers and schooners are tied up at Halifax. Five arrived Tuesday. They don't know where to turn. Some of them intend discharging their cargoes and returning to legitimate freight traffic.

The Halifax situation confirms statements in coast guard circles that Rum Row has virtually been cleaned up. One ship of a fleet of 80 rum ships remains.

The dry campaign, ashore and inland, continues apace. A fleet of armed craft is being mobilized at five bases on Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence river to cope with the expected deluge of liquor from Ontario.

Ten more sailboats and restaurants have been padlocked in New York. At Atlantic City, N. J., small boats once used by Rum Row's customers are being turned into excursion craft.

CHARCOAL IRON FURNACE SHUTS DOWN AT ASHLAND

Ashtland — The charcoal iron company blast furnace which has been operated here for the past 20 years has been closed for good and is at present on the market for sale according to word received from the company officials Tuesday. For some time the plant has been idle although it has been operated at intervals during the past five years.

German Airman, Later A U.S. Spy Keeps Under Cover

New York—A Washington dispatch to the New York Times Wednesday says that Alvin Grothe, a German aviator whose plane was shot down behind the American lines in the World war and who subsequently became a spy in the American service, has settled in a large city in this country under an assumed name and is becoming a man of affairs.

Alfred Scholtze, a lance corporal, also became a traitor to the German imperialist cause and he and Grothe, dressed in German uniforms, interviewed captured German prisoners and then turned the information over to the American army. Trace of him has been lost. He is said to have mapped the German batteries where the American artillery was able to silence these guns in the St. Mihiel drive.

Courts May Have To Decide Fight In U. S. Trade Board

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1925 by Post Pub. Co. Washington, D. C.—Big business and little business, competitors who think unfair methods are being used against them, and all the better business bureaus who want to save the public from injury through false advertising or misrepresentation are concerned in the issues which have developed a controversy inside the federal trade commission.

The differences of opinion between the majority and minority members are sincere differences. They arise out of a multitude of experiences in which unjust publicity has been mingled with helpful publicity. But the public—and perhaps the courts—will have to decide what procedure is the wisest to follow.

The new rules of the commission provide that when after thorough preliminary investigation and an opportunity for both sides to be present at a hearing, then if the commission shall decide to dismiss the application for complaint, there need be no publicity, or that when the guilty party agrees not to engage in the wrongful practice any more, the case shall be dismissed without publicity.

To this the minority on the commission is not ready to agree, arguing that the majority might be wrong and that publicity will at least advise the trade and the public and perhaps lead to a further discussion of the merits of the case.

Another point that is interesting in connection with the rule which would seek to suppress information when a complaint is formally issued is that these complaints will always be accessible to the press and to business in general, and while the commission may not take the initiative in publicity, the information will be obtainable.

The minority and majority have issued their viewpoints in public statements and it is known that the United States Chamber of Commerce is to be asked this week to support the majority.

Public opinion will have to decide the controversy in the last analysis and it will hinge not on the wording of the rules but their effect in actual practice. The issue may have to be decided by a clarification of the statutes by congress or by a judicial decision.

MADISON MAN AWARDED RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP

By Associated Press
Cambridge, Mass.—The Jacob Wertheim Research Fellowship for the betterment of industrial relationships has been awarded by the corporation of Harvard university for the current year to William Haber, of Madison, Wis., a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. The fellowship was established in 1923 by gift of the family of the late Jacob Wertheim of New York.

It was announced that Mr. Haber plans to study the labor problem in the entire industrial situation in an attempt to discover the conditions in the industry which prevent stabilization and industrial peace.

War time dispatches had told of the similar acts of two unnamed German traitors and in 1913 Brigadier General Mariborough Churchill, then director of military intelligence, gave the bare facts in Grothe and Scholtze cases. Both were transferred by their own request to the United States as prisoners of war and interned in army posts. After the armistice they were released.

An army officer befriended Grothe and is said still to be his advisor. Both Grothe and Scholtze were of socialist tendencies and opposed to the Kaiser's rule. Because of the service they rendered the American army, secrecy has been maintained about them as a guard against possible efforts of violence by supporters of the Hohenzollern regime.

agreed, moreover, that even after thorough investigation, the commission may come to the unanimous conclusion that publicity about the complaint might be subject to misuse, especially if the firm complained of is innocent.

Thus far there is no room for argument, as all commissioners say the firm or business guilty of fraud should not be allowed to escape either publicity or punishment. But there have been cases in which a wrongful practice is not clearly one of fraud or deception. In other words, a majority of the commission might think it was an innocent intent but a wrong practice. A minority might think the practice and the intent to be fraudulent.

The new rules of the commission provide that when after thorough preliminary investigation and an opportunity for both sides to be present at a hearing, then if the commission shall decide to dismiss the application for complaint, there need be no publicity, or that when the guilty party agrees not to engage in the wrongful practice any more, the case shall be dismissed without publicity.

To this the minority on the commission is not ready to agree, arguing that the majority might be wrong and that publicity will at least advise the trade and the public and perhaps lead to a further discussion of the merits of the case.

Another point that is interesting in connection with the rule which would seek to suppress information when a complaint is formally issued is that these complaints will always be accessible to the press and to business in general, and while the commission may not take the initiative in publicity, the information will be obtainable.

The minority and majority have issued their viewpoints in public statements and it is known that the United States Chamber of Commerce is to be asked this week to support the majority.

Public opinion will have to decide the controversy in the last analysis and it will hinge not on the wording of the rules but their effect in actual practice. The issue may have to be decided by a clarification of the statutes by congress or by a judicial decision.

PRO AND CON COME TO BLOWS OVER EVOLUTION

Dayton, Tenn.—First blows in Tennessee's famous evolution law fight have been struck. The blows were literal, however, instead of legal, and were exchanged between a proponent and opponent of evolution at a meeting of Dayton citizens to protest against a contemplated move by Chattanooga to rush to court a case testing the Tennessee anti-evolution teaching law ahead of the trial of J. T. Scopes of Dayton.

An assertion by Dr. George Rappleyea, evolution leader, who swore out the warrant for Scopes' arrest to test the law, that man evolved from lower forms of life, was resented by Thurlow Reed, Dayton barber, as a reflection on his family, and he dashed to the rostrum and attacked Rappleyea.

TWO DEAD, THREE HURT IN ELECTION GUN FIGHT

By Associated Press
Williamson, W. Va.—Sherman Parley, a merchant of Kermit, near here, and Buck Kirk, president of the board of education, are dead and three other men are wounded, while six are under arrest on a charge of shooting as the result of Tuesday's pistol battle at a poll at Kermit, where an election was being held on the question of creating an independent school district.

Ken Chapman, of Kermit, John Chaffin, a deputy sheriff, and Ken Kirk, of Matewan, are in a hospital at Huntington, with wounds they received in the fight. Kirk, a special deputy, is shot in the abdomen.

PEOPLE WILL VOTE ON DRY ACT IN 1926

Assembly Concurs in Senate Bill for State Referendum on Prohibition

Madison—The assembly Wednesday defeated the Johnson bill regulating the practice of chiropractic and the $5,000 annual appropriation for the state humane agent. Non-concurrence was voted, 41 to 40, and 52 to 23, respectively.

The chiropractic bill would create a new commission and was useless regulation, opponents declared. This was denied by the sponsors, who asserted it was a public welfare measure. Assemblyman Edwards, Lawson and Minier opposed the humane agent's appropriation; as unnecessary.

The bill establishing a fish hatchery in Douglas-co was advanced to engrossment and the measure granting, declared lands along Green Bay to the city of Marinette for public park purposes, was passed unanimously. The latter goes to the senate.

WANT DRY REPEAL

The Meggers resolution would memorialize congress to call a convention to propose an amendment repealing the prohibition amendment to the federal constitution. It goes to the senate. The other resolution provides for a referendum on Wisconsin voters on the question of whether congress shall be memorialized to modify the Volstead act to permit the sale of beer.

Anti-prohibition measure won in the assembly Wednesday. The Meggers resolution asking congress to propose repeal of the Eighteenth amendment was adopted, 48 to 38, and the senate resolution for a state referendum on 2.75 per cent beer was concurred in, 51 to 24.

The voters will pass on the beer proposition in November, 1926, as a result of the assembly's concurrence. An amendment, providing for the referendum next April, was rejected 36 to 29. It was offered by Assemblyman Edwards, Sussex, who said he wanted to take the question out of politics. Assemblyman Eber, Milwaukee, in opposing it, said its "real purpose was to save the face of some caucus who will seek election in the fall of 1926. The term of United States Senator Lorfoot expires at that time.

PASS INITIATIVE

The "old time" saloon will be barred under the beer proposal. An amendment by Assemblyman Pahl, Milwaukee, to prevent return of the referendum question to the legislature, was adopted. It adds to the referendum question the proposition that sale of beer should be under government supervision and that the beverage should not be drunk on the premises where it was sold.

The Heck resolution approving the proposed initiative and referendum amendment to the state constitution with a provision designed to safeguard religious bodies from legislative interference was concurred in, 55 to 21. It goes back to the senate for action on the "religious freedom" provision, which was added in the lower house.

HUNT MAN FOR SHOOTING, ARSON AND ABDUCTION

Winthrop, Me.—A posse of county officers reinforced by citizens was searching over the country in the vicinity of Lake Umbagog Wednesday for a man who is believed to have shot and seriously wounded Mrs. Emma M. Towns and then set fire to her cottage. Miss Abba Hayward, a niece of Mrs. Towns, is missing and is believed to have been abducted.

LAMP EXPLOSION SETS THREE GARAGES AFIRE

Spencer—Fire which resulted from the explosion of a lamp caused the loss of three garages, an automobile, tools and sufficient lumber to build a bungalow, and 27 chickens here Tuesday night. The loss was estimated at about $2,900.

BOARD SEEKS C. C. SUPPORT IN SQUABBLE

Member Defends Trade Commission's New Rule on Suppressed Publicity

By Associated Press
Washington—A defense of the federal trade commission's recent changes in its rules of procedure with an appeal for the approval of the United States Chamber of Commerce was presented Wednesday by the chamber's annual meeting by Commissioner W. E. Humphrey.

Opposition to the changes, which sharply restrict publicity to be given the commission's procedure, and permit settlement of cases by stipulation without issuance of complaint, was declared by Commissioner Humphrey to come from "those who believe that these changes will prevent them from using the commission for personal and political purposes."

The changes in the commission's publicity rule have been consistently opposed by Commissioner Thompson and Nigdet, Democratic members of the commission. Their opposition was based chiefly upon their belief that to restrict publicity in the commission's procedure would lead to "star chamber" proceedings and would give protection to dishonest business at the expense of those who wished to deal fairly with their competitors.

Commissioner Humphrey denied the majority of the commission believe the former practice of publishing charges against respondents after preliminary investigations to be unjust to the respondent, a reflection on the commission and "insidiously" to the public.

The new policy of settling cases by stipulation, he said, not only accomplishes the ultimate object of the commission of protecting the public against law violations, but saves time and expense to the government of taking the cases to trial.

8 KILLED BY LIGHTNING IN STORM AT BRUSSELS

By Associated Press
Brussels—Eight persons were killed by lightning Tuesday night and damage estimated to amount to millions of francs was caused by storms in this section.

The principal damage was done to farm crops, although houses in towns and cities were battered by a heavy hail that broke thousands of windows. All traffic and communications were impeded and in some places temporarily stopped.

DIAMOND THIEVES GET $60,000 IN CHICAGO

By Associated Press
Chicago—$60,000 diamond robbery on the eleventh floor of the Capitol bldg., the former Masonic temple, was reported to the police Wednesday by four victims. Charles P. Goldberg, 22 Nassau street, New York City, was the biggest loser, reporting that he was robbed of unset diamonds valued at $50,000.

Ekern Probe Develops Tiff Between Smith, Sauthoff

Madison — The way having been cleared for the inquiry, the special senatorial committee Wednesday prepared to hear W. Stanley Smith, state insurance commissioner on his charges against Attorney General Herman L. Ekern.

Mr. Smith agreed to appear before the committee at 2 o'clock, bringing with him such documents, papers and writings as may be required in the investigation. Attorney General Ekern also would be present.

The committee ignored Commissioner Smith's demand that Mr. Ekern be subpoenaed to submit to questioning by the commissioner as to his alleged activities in connection with insurance matters. Senator W. A. Titus, Fond du Lac, suggested that both be subpoenaed, but the commissioner and the attorney general promised to attend without the issuance of formal summonses.

Mr. Smith took exception to expressions of Chairman Harry Sauthoff, Madison, chairman of the committee, at several stages of the proceedings. He informed the senator that if the latter would not issue a subpoena for the attorney general, he would "set a subpoena from a circuit court or somewhere else."

ONTARIO BARS ARE ABOUT TO BLOSSOM AGAIN

By Associated Press
Toronto — With haste and expectation, the province of Ontario Wednesday completed preparations for the morrow when 4.4 per cent beer may be dispensed in hotels under government license and supervision.

Hostlers rushed to complete their renovation of long neglected bar rooms, moving out brass rails and bars to comply with regulations that the beverage may be served only at tables.

Breweries began shipments Tuesday working night and day to distribute enough for all. Most hotels have been supplied, but little has been available for grocery stores, which under the law may sell bottled beer.

RIFF COMMANDER PUSHES FORWARD WITH NEW FORCE

Abd-El-Krim Preaches Communists Tenets and Promises Rich Rewards to Tribes

By Associated Press
Alicante, Spain — Abd-El-Krim is commanding in person the movement against the French in Morocco, according to dispatches from the Rif, Algeria. The Rifian chief also is preaching Communist doctrines among the tribes and promising rich booty if they join his forces.

Paris—Alarming and sensational reports published abroad, telling of serious reverses and heavy losses allegedly suffered by the French in their campaign against the Rifian invaders, are being exploited to the full by the Communists and extreme Socialists in Paris.

This campaign has drawn from Premier Poincaré a plain statement of the situation and a defense of the government's policy.

The premier disclaims any idea of colonial expansion and declares the government's only end is to maintain peace, which policy Marshal Lyautey is pursuing faithfully.

Latest dispatches from the front say the fighting is continuing. While not of a nature serious enough to affect the general situation, it is a character significant in indicating that Abd-El-Krim's reinforcements are beginning to arrive in sufficient numbers to justify him in applying pressure.

DENY RETRIALS, SENTENCE TWO TO STATE PRISON

LaValley Says He'll Die and Is Innocent—Dr. Fleischer
Loses License

Two sentences to the state prison at Waupun were pronounced in circuit court at Waupun Tuesday evening by Judge Ryan B. Parks for men convicted of criminal offenses. Arthur LaValley of Clintonville, virtually carried into court to hear his fate pronounced, was ordered to serve ten years for a statutory offense committed on a 12-year-old girl. Dr. H. Fleischer of Clintonville, found guilty of second degree manslaughter because of an illegal operation causing the death of a young woman, was given five years. Both sentences followed the denial of motions for a new trial. LaValley's case will be appealed to the supreme court, however.

LaValley has been seriously ill in the county jail since the jury rendered its verdict. He was assisted to the Waupun courtroom at a special evening session of the court by Sheriff William Toepke and Undersheriff Halbert Svenson in order that his place for a new trial could be heard. His attorney, L. D. Smith, argued that the trial was unfair partly because of a change of testimony of one of the witnesses for the defendant. The testimony was altered without knowledge of the attorney, he said, and the recalled irregularity ought to entitle the defendant to a new trial. The motion was overruled and Judge Parks pronounced sentence of ten years in state prison, with one day a year of solitary confinement. He will remain in the county jail until June 5, pending an appeal to the supreme court.

LaValley was asked by Judge Parks if he had anything to say. "I know I am going to die," he replied, "but I am innocent."

Dr. Fleischer not only lost the opportunity for a new trial but is barred from practicing medicine in Wisconsin hereafter. He was found guilty of second degree manslaughter in connection with the death of Marie Gretzinger of Clintonville. She died following an operation which it is alleged was to prevent maternity.

Attorney Leon Sauer of Milwaukee, the doctor's counsel, argued the motion for a new trial. He read extracts from supreme court decisions as his basis for the retrial. The judge then asked Dr. Fleischer if he had anything to say. The doctor answered that he believed a new trial ought to be granted, because one of the state's witnesses, a Miss Peterson, really testified in his defense. She was present in the doctor's office when Miss Gretzinger was there, and said the girl was in the inner office only a few moments.

Judge Parks overruled the motion for a new trial, however, and ordered the doctor to prison for five years, with one day a year in solitary confinement. The judge also ordered the physician's license revoked to prevent him from practicing medicine again in Wisconsin.

LOSERS FURNISH LEAGUE SUPPER

Spills of victory were taken into camp by the Roses at the expense of the Thorns at the picnic supper which was the windup of the season for the young women's volleyball league of St. Paul Lutheran church Tuesday evening. The members of the two teams went down river for a wiener and marshmallow roast. The supper was furnished by the Thorns because they lost the tourney, under an agreement at the beginning of the season that the loser would furnish the supper. A theater party followed. Those who played with the Roses were the Misses Lillian Nehls, Ida Tilly and Emma Dettmann and Mrs. Alvin Wassmann. The Thorns were the Misses Martha Tilly, Norma Pingel, Irene Miller and Viola Lemberg.

EXPECT TO USE 5 CARLOADS OF OIL ON STREETS

Aldermen Ready to Recommend Streets to Be Treated
With Oil This Summer

One of the questions to be discussed at the meeting of the common council Wednesday night will be the oiling of streets this summer. Aldermen were requested by the mayor several weeks ago to make a canvass of their wards in an effort to find out which streets needed oiling and a list of from 15 to 20 streets or parts of streets has been compiled. In addition to the streets on this list requests have been received by the street and bridge committee to oil Randall-st and Sherman-pl roads.

The city is advertising for bids on five carloads of oil this year, which is less than one third of the amount used in 1924. Mayor John Goodland favors the use of calcium chloride for certain streets, because it is colorless and odorless, and still has the properties of oil in settling dust. This compound, known as Dowflake, can not be used on finely powdered cinder streets, however, and for that reason oil bids were desired. Probably the calcium will be put on several streets this year as an experiment.

SCHOOL SPIRIT CUP IS AWARDED TO H. S. JUNIORS

Student Is Expelled for Alleged Dishonesty in Effort to Ascertain Winner

The junior class of Appleton high school was awarded the annual school spirit cup by Principal Lee C. Rasey Wednesday morning after a period of excitement which culminated in the expulsion of John Powell from the school for an alleged breach of etiquette. The senior class, which for years has won the trophy, was ranked fourth this year. The sophomore class was ranked second and freshmen were given third place.

The cup is awarded to the class which shows the best spirit during the year. The seniors were criticized for failure to support class activities and it was charged that seniors often had deserted their own class functions to attend parties and programs given elsewhere.

Powell, a junior, was ordered from school by Mr. Rasey because he had tried by alleged dishonest means to learn the decision of the school spirit cup committee in advance of formal announcement. It was charged that he had called a member of the committee on the telephone and representing himself as a reporter for The Post-Crescent, requested advance information on the award. He secured the information but the alleged deception was discovered and there was some discussion of whether the junior class should not forfeit its right to the cup because of the breach.

Sophomores were praised for the spirit which they showed and freshmen also were complimented on the way in which they entered into the life of the school.

STUDENTS' BUS ANGERED COPS

Harold Parmelee Is Fined for Driving Decrepit Car That Made Too Much Noise

Decrepit flivvers used by the Lawrence college boys for their fun and transportation have to come within the city ordinances. Harold Parmelee and a group of student friends learned from Judge A. M. Spencer in municipal court Wednesday morning. Parmelee was fined, and an arterial jumper, Lawrence Tipler, route 11, Neenah, also paid for his oversight.

Parmelee and a group of college boys were driving Tuesday with an automobile bearing no license plates and with no cutout valve, thus causing a loud engine noise. Chief George T. Prim discovered them while riding in the police car and as the machine was turned around and started in pursuit, one of the boys reached inside the college car, took out a license plate and held it against the back of the machine.

WANT WATERCRAFT OUT FOR BRIDGE CEREMONY

Somewhat of a revival of boating activity is proposed by the committee preparing for the dedication of Cherry-bridge to the soldiers and sailors on Tuesday, May 26.

All who own launches or other pleasure craft have been asked to take part in the festivities by holding a water carnival. It has been suggested that all the boats assemble beneath the bridge about 7:30, decorated with flags, festooning and lights.

An attractive setting will be given the scene of the dedication. It is said, and will present a novel feature in connection with the ceremonies. Appleton Boat club is expected to take the lead in this activity.

Louis Loose, who has been employed by the Kimberly-Clark Co. at Kimberly, left Wednesday for Kohler where he has accepted a position.

PROMINENT MEN ON PROGRAM FOR BANKERS CONFAB

Green Bay Planning Entertainment for Bank Officers in Group Three

Appleton bankers will attend the convention of Group Three of the Wisconsin Association Thursday, May 23, in the main hall of hotel Northland. The convention will be a business gathering at which experts on questions affecting the banking business will speak. Music and entertainment will be provided, and a special invitation is being issued to the ladies for whom entertainment will be planned.

The first meeting of the convention will be called at 10 o'clock, with O. M. Kiley, cashier of First National Bank, De Pere, presiding. The welcome address will be made by H. P. Claus, cashier of Citizens National Bank, Green Bay. Other speeches to be made during the morning will be: Cooperation, W. H. Doyle, president Wisconsin Bankers' association; Service Charge, Paul H. Schroeder, assistant cashier Commercial National Bank, Madison; County Clearing House, J. W. Meyers, Illinois Bankers' association; Let's Swap Places, K. F. Karel, assistant National Bank examiner; Value of Standardization, Harry D. Baker, president, Polk County Bank of Balsam Lake. A report of the secretary and treasurer, George E. Dawson, cashier First National Bank, Brillion will be made at the morning session.

Luncheon will be served at 2 o'clock, and the guest of honor will be the Hon. Dwight T. Parker, commissioner of banking. W. J. Evans will be the toastmaster, and the Herman Daumler's orchestra will furnish music. Miss Elizabeth Church will sing a solo, and other features of the entertainment will be provided by "Chubby" Goodland and "Butch" Solbraa of Madison. Prof. Alex Enna will lead in general singing.

Directors of Appleton Bank are invited to attend the meeting and to bring their wives. The ladies will be entertained at Elk Club.

DON QUIXOTE BATTLES SCIENCE

William Jennings Bryan, a dry from the wettest state in the Union, has finally forced the issue of evolution vs. orthodox theology on the attention of the nation. Down in Tennessee they are going to test a law which prohibits the teaching of the theory of evolution in the public schools. Clarence Darrow is defending the modernists and Mr. Bryan the fundamentalists. It is going to be a memorable tilt, and when time recedes and the incident stands out in a clearer perspective we suspect it will look not unlike the combats between Don Quixote and the windmills.

In this religious combat we imagine that the cause of evolution will win, at least in the opinion of those persons with an open mind. The origin of the human race may be such as is ascribed by the theories of evolution. It cannot be proved with any scientific exactness. The reasoning may be good; but the premises from which the deductions are derived involve too much of assumption.

After all, the controversy between religion and science over the question of evolution is both fruitless and foolish. Nothing can be proved on either side with any finality. Science can take nothing away from religion and Christianity to the individual who finds comfort and hope in its teaching and in the normal instinct which accepts it in faith. Science can offer him no such consolation, no such spiritual support. On the other hand, it is foolish of the church to battle against the striving of science for a free field. The world is opposed to intellectual bondage. The right to teach evolution ought to be conceded by any religionist, provided it is the desire of a state or community to have it taught.

Attempts to suppress intellectual freedom and selection are invariably futile. Statutes which seek to destroy this freedom cannot prevail. They are more apt to bring the cause of religion into disrepute. We have long since passed the period of development in which the human mind can be controlled by dogma or law. The greater intellectual freedom we have the sooner will intellectual fallacies and scientific errors be exploded. Religion cannot force itself on society. It is something which has to be accepted. The more arbitrary it is, the greater difficulties it sets up in its own path. We have a converse living demonstration of this proof in the thriving of Christianity under persecution. Mr. Bryan ought to go back to Florida to look after the interests of its reators and permit Mr. Darrow to give his undivided time and attention to the defense and moral entrenchment of murderers.

GERMANY BELIEVES IN DAWES PLAN

Foreign Minister Stresemann, in a speech to the reichstag, pledged to Germany and the world the purpose of the Hindenburg government to faithfully carry out the Dawes reparations plan. This is an exceedingly important announcement concerning the foreign policies of the new administration which cannot fail to have a soothing and re-assuring effect. Herr Stresemann went even further than this, declaring his faith in the efficiency of the Dawes plan, and the Dawes plan alone, to work out satisfactorily the post-war problems. The German government, he says, considers the fulfillment of the London agreement as the only possible economic policy, and he declared it to be its purpose to meet strictly and in good faith its obligations under this agreement as they arise day by day.

Not only this, the foreign minister gave the approval of the new government to the negotiations originated by his predecessor for a security treaty touching both the eastern and western frontiers of Germany. Herr Stresemann virtually committed the government to these proposals, asserting the willingness of Germany to give suitable guarantees of a permanent western frontier, but refused to accept as forever binding the limitations set on the eastern frontier by the treaty of Versailles.

Thus, we have the prospect of a continuance of the overtures Germany has made to the allies for an understanding on which permanent peace might be firmly established. Faithful execution of the Dawes agreement and a frank pursuing of the efforts to reconcile the remaining differences between Germany and the allies, involving as it necessarily would a modification of the Versailles treaty more in accordance with enlightened opinion and the dictates of justice, are the only roads to enduring peace, provided that is the true desire of the nations concerned.

TWO "GRAND OLD MEN"

Chauncey M. DePew is 91 years old, and "Uncle Joe" Cannon 89. That is not much, in mere years. Any Galapagos turtle can beat it, several times, and doubtless many men, in many ages, have lived uneventful lives as long, or longer.

But who ever lived 90 such years before? There were never any 90 years like them to live, and few others, in these 90 years lived them all at the center of the stage or in the boxes. A thousand years, in most of the life of humanity would have revealed a less varied spectacle.

From a world just recovering from Napoleon to a world just recovering from kaiserism; from America the pioneer to America the center; from the coach to the airplane, through the whole mechanical and industrial revolution; through the era of most rapid expansion of human contacts and transformation of human life, these two men, in their respective ways, played their large and active parts.

Of much of their era, they are almost the only important survivors. May they both live to enjoy the spectacle through a whole rounded century!

NEWS AND THE POLICE

"There is no other way of solving crime mysteries," says General Butler, Philadelphia's police cleanup man, "than by giving them publicity."

A statement often made by others, though usually by people connected with newspapers.

But what is really extraordinary about General Butler's remark is his explanation for it. He does not go on to say that stories of crime deter people from committing it by revealing the frequent consequences, detection and punishment. Probably he believes that, too. But his primary reason for favoring the free news handling of stories of wrongdoing is that it "spurs the police." "The newspapers won't let us get away with anything. They keep after us and make us hop."

Two reporters on a Chicago daily were so largely responsible for the detection of Loeb and Leopold that they have been awarded the Pulitzer prize for their meritorious service. Irvin Cobb's grizzled Sherlock Holmes of a city editor is not an exception, but merely a slight exaggeration of a wide-awake type in cities from the Battery to the Golden Gate.

Of course any chief of police can tell you about the absurd "cub" who pulled the "boner" and spoiled a perfectly good roundup of underworld characters. But on the whole the balance undoubtedly lies where the Philadelphia director of public safety says it is. The newspaper is a valuable police morale agency even when it may seem a bit of a pest.

Autos killed 12,000 last year, not counting those who worked themselves to death paying bills.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Written answers are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

GOOD HEALTH RULES

W. S. P. has formulated some health rules which he says were inspired largely by the health taught here, and he would like to know what I think of his rules. He would also like to know how one may know when one is enjoying perfect health.

- Here are the rules W. S. P. gives:
1. I try my best to keep the moral law.
2. I sleep from 7 to 11 hours every night.
3. I walk every day five to seven miles.
4. I eat a reasonable amount of coarse food each day.
5. I work from 7 to 11 hours every day.
6. I play a little every day.
7. I do not worry.

These are pretty good rules, especially the first five. Rule No. 6 it seems to me is covered sufficiently by rule No. 2, and rule No. 7 is superfluous. It is pretty well covered by rule No. 1. Rule No. 4 might be made a little more explicit, specifying raw vegetables or raw fruit.

The only way one may know the actual state of one's health is by having a regular periodic health examination made by the doctor. Of course if one is fair with oneself and well informed about health or hygiene (not about diseases or symptoms), one will almost realize that there is something not quite right when health does fall behind par for any reason. But we are very fond of deceiving ourselves about this; we like to explain away seemingly trifling impairments of health, and wait until we are quite certainly "sick enough to see a doctor." The set of rules proposed by W. S. P. might include in place of rules No. 6 and 7, this as rule No. 6. I have a complete health examination by my doctor annually.

There are a few more rules which I should include in the list, but in order to keep these as brief and pointed as W. S. P.'s rules, I shall have to assume that readers are familiar with the hygiene taught here.

Rule No. 7. I live the golden rule when I have the cri.

Rule No. 8. I always wash before I eat.

Rule No. 9. Let who will keep good and warm; I keep cool and well.

Rule No. 10. This space is vacant—readers are invited to suggest rule No. 10 for us. Readers do suggest most of the good things printed in this column.

In Fine Voice.

While the opportunity is mine I wish to thank you most heartily for the formula for a singer's gargle which you sent me. I have found it most satisfactory in preventing huskiness. (W. S. S.)

Answer. I should be especially glad to send the formula to almost any of the artists whose voices come to us over the air. I don't mind the other singers so much.

Cause of Quinsy.

Kindly state the cause of quinsy. Is it catching? I suffer an attack of it nearly every year, once in a while I go for two years without the attack. (Mrs. W. H. J.)

Answer. Quinsy is an abscess in the soft palate near the tonsil. The abscess is caused by invasion of the tissue of the palate by pus-producing germs such as the streptococcus, the staphylococcus or the pneumococcus. Quinsy is not specifically catching, but the germs which cause quinsy in your case may cause tonsillitis or coryza or other form of cri, in another person. The germs are conveyed from person to person in the same manner as attacks of quinsy. Persons subject to repeated attacks of quinsy usually find permanent immunity when they have their tonsils removed. Probably the germs are harbored in a septic focus in one of the tonsils in such cases.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Balsam Pillows.

Are balsam pillows made from a Christmas tree healthy for children and adults to sleep on? (Mrs. C. K. R.)

Answer.—They're as healthful as any other pillow if one likes the fragrance it may help to bring sleep.

We hear that the big banquet on the day of the opening of Cherry-st bridge will be given in Conway hotel. That may seem sacrilegious to the people who fought John Conway on the location of the bridge. But remember that John always did say when he was mixed up in the fight that the bridge location would make no difference to him personally.

Jim: "Yes."
Bill: "He's a crook and is wanted in Kenosha."

GERMANY SAFE UNDER REGIME OF HINDENBURG

System Won't Permit Overthrow of Republic—President Is Loyal to People

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—The unexpected election of Field Marshal von Hindenburg to the presidency of the German republic and the character, record and past fealty of that doughty old war-horse have aroused almost endless speculation in Europe and in the United States. Is there about to be a restoration of the monarchy which Wilhelm scrapped? That, perhaps, is the question most frequently discussed.

Well informed Germans in this country say that the answer is to be found in the form of government which the German people have established and in the constitutional hobbles which they have put on their president.

Roughly speaking, there are three types of republics. The first is the presidential republic such as the United States, in which the executive is essentially free of responsibility to the legislative branch, although congress can impeach and remove the president from office, and can veto legislation which he does not approve. The second is the collegiate republic, such as Switzerland and the Hanseatic City-States of Germany under the old regime, in which a college takes the place of a president. The third is the parliamentary republic as in France. The German republic has some features of all three.

PEOPLE'S CHOICE

The German president is elected by the people, just as is the president of the United States, while the French executive is chosen by the two houses of parliament, united as the national assembly. The American president appoints his own cabinet, subject to confirmation by the senate, and it is responsible only to him. In France and in Germany, on the other hand, the president chooses a cabinet, but it must be acceptable to the parliamentary body for the cabinet "falls" whenever it asks for a vote of confidence and is rejected.

In both France and Germany the parliament not only exercises legislative power but it also controls executive action to a degree although in Germany the president is not wholly a creature of the parliament. It is stated that he is intended to be a powerful part of the government, and if need should arise, a check on the parliament to prevent its becoming omnipotent.

As seen in the light of constitutional law, the German president stands between the presidents of America and France; he is weaker than the one and stronger than the other. The separation of legislative and executive power makes him independent in his own province, but this province is limited, for he can act only with the counter-signature of a cabinet member. Should the minister encounter the displeasure of the reichstag he will "fall" over his signature and must be replaced by another man who will be more cautious. Thus in the ultimate, the president is always dependent on the reichstag.

CANT DOWN REPUBLIC

It will be seen that, in effect, the internal policy as well as the foreign policy of the German president is determined by the majority of the parliamentary body, the reichstag. However, in President Hindenburg's case, the division of the parties is nearly even between the parties o-

Q. How large is the new city park of Phoenix, Arizona? H. E. W.

A. The Phoenix Chamber of Commerce says that the city has acquired for a public playground a mountain range ten miles in length with a width in some places of five miles containing over 14,000 acres. It now lies four miles from the city boundary but it is expected that the city will grow until the park will adjoin it. While the park can scarcely be called a city park, it is a park owned by the city, and the largest in this class in the world.

LONDON LANDMARKS GIVE WAY TO MODERN HOUSES

By Associated Press
London—So many buildings are being torn down in London nowadays, to make way for modern and comparatively large modern structures, that various sections of the stolid old city are taking on the bustling appearance of a new and rapidly growing American town. Also the demolitions often give passersby unexpected glimpses of ancient houses hitherto hidden from view.

One gets occasional glimpses of famous old landmarks that never before, at least in living memory, have been fully exposed to public view. One of these is the Old Savoy chapel which with the trees in its little churchyard, can now be seen from the top of a bus in the Strand.

Another is in Bishopsgate where quaint little St. Ethelburga, one of the oldest and smallest churches in London, fronted with two ancient and tiny shops, is now suddenly revealed by the pulling down of buildings at its

SHOW HOUSES ON INCREASE IN GERMANY

By Associated Press
Berlin—There are today so many places of amusement in the German capital that they interfere with each others' business, and but few of them do well financially. Most marked in recent years has been the development of the opera and the revue. While before the war Berlin had two operas, it now has four; while it boasted of one revue in 1914, six are now competing with each other.

Not included in the 51 theatres running today are the movie houses and the cabarets. There were hardly any cinemas in Berlin before the war; now there are 330 of them, supplying for the most part American films. In 1914 the idea of a cabaret was associated with but two institutions, the "Linden" and the "Black Cat." Now there are 32 of them. When a restaurant has difficulties in maintaining itself, it promptly installs a cabaret in the hope of attracting guests.

Berlin counts also six vaudeville houses and 11 dance palaces.

Choosing The Wedding Gown What Shall It Be?

One may choose the traditional satin—with satin flowers and beadings, and the soft touch of lace. Equally correct is the smart newer vogue of sheer chiffon or Crepe Gowns, with silver, crystal, or pearl beading. And, of course, yards and yards of tulle. Realizing that every bride rightly demands individuality in her Wedding Gown, we present only the desired one-of-a-kind models with a charm all their own. Priced according to material and type of dress. $5.75, $8.75, $13.50 and up.

A Saving of $36,000,000

According to the most conservative calculation, American motorists pay $36,000,000 a year for chassis lubrication.

And that sum represents but a fraction of the saving that motorists would enjoy if all cars were, like the Cleveland Six, equipped with the

"One-Shot" Lubrication System

(Licensed under Bowens Products Co. patent)

This exclusive, high pressure system does more than eliminate the actual cost of having a garage or service station lubricate vital bearings.

It eliminates the inconvenience of leaving the car to have it done or of doing the job yourself. It reduces service, maintenance, and depreciation costs. And it guarantees a properly functioning, smoothly operating car at all times.

For you simply step on a plunger and every moving part is flushed with clean, live lubricant. Any Cleveland Six dealer will show you.

Quality Sixes from $895 to $1725

WORK ON PLANS FOR GRADUATING WEEK PROGRAM

Commencement Exercises Probably Be Held on Friday, June 5

Kaukauna—Final arrangements for commencement in the high school have not yet been made although it has been announced that school will close Friday, June 5. The class play will be given Wednesday and class day exercises will be held the following day while Friday will be reserved for commencement exercises.

There was doubt as to whether a senior class play would be presented this year but the class members were so opposed to destroying an ancient custom that it has finally been decided to stage a play. Inasmuch as there is now not enough time to drill a number of characters for a three or four act play such as is usually given, plans are under way to present three short one act plays instead. Characters for two of the acts have been chosen and rehearsals are being held under the direction of Miss Ruth Nemacheck. The cast for the third play will be announced Wednesday.

A precedent for final examinations will be established this term. Senior exams will be held Thursday and Friday, May 28 and 29 and examinations of other classes will take place June 2 and 3. Instead of devoting an entire week to the tests and allowing two hours for each, members of the faculty have decided to give tests which can be handled during a regular 45 minute class period. There will be no exemptions, all students being required to write.

Teachers are undecided as to whether the annual presentation of the Lang trophy should be made at class day exercises or on commencement night. The trophy is presented annually to the student in any class who is chosen by the faculty as the best all around student both in scholarship and in outside activities. J. F. Cavanaugh, superintendent, will choose a committee of five teachers this week who will select the winner of the cup although no announcement will be made until presentation.

SUMMER SCHOOL AT RURAL NORMAL

Six Weeks Course Will Be Given to Prepare School Teachers for Work

Kaukauna—A summer session of six weeks will be conducted in Outagamie Rural school beginning Monday, June 22. Six weeks work will be covered although by conducting school six days a week only five weeks will be the actual time taken up. The session will close July 24. A special feature of this summer's term will be high school work for graduates of the training school who are not graduates of a high school. This work will give students an opportunity to work for a high school diploma, which is required now from teachers wishing to enter the normal school to train for grade teaching in city schools.

APPLETON MUSICIAN PLAYS ORGAN RECITAL

Kaukauna—An organ recital will be given by Mrs. Laura Brigham of Appleton Thursday evening in Brook Methodist church under the auspices of the Ladies' Social Union. WARM WEATHER SENDS SWIMMERS TO POOL

Kaukauna—With the coming of warmer weather attendance is rapidly increasing at the municipal swimming pool in the administration building. The schedule will remain the same this summer as in the past. Boys days will be Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays while the girls will have the remaining days, Sundays excepted. The pool will be open every Tuesday evening for older men who cannot come during the day, and on Wednesday evening for women.
The pool is open every day from 12:45 until 5 o'clock as about 50 percent of the patrons are school children. There is little activity until after school hours. After school classes for vacation daily attendance will be such that it will be necessary to limit the swimmers to 45 minutes in the pool.

LARGE CROWD AT SENIOR BANQUET

Interesting Program Is Presented at Annual Meeting of High School Upper Classes

Kaukauna—An attractive program in a novel setting was presented at the annual banquet and dance of the junior and senior classes of Kaukauna high school Tuesday evening in Elk hall. About 175 persons attend, including students, members of the faculty and members of the board of education. The hall was converted into a "radio broadcasting station" and miniature radio sets were placed in front of each plate. Small silver ribbons attached to each set and stretched across the tables represented lead-wires and added to the attractive decorations.

Fay Posson, junior acted as "announcer." A toast to the seniors was given by Leo Schmalz and the response was made by Kurt Beier. "Static" was injected into the broadcasting program by Catherine Mayer who gave away many of the secrets of members of the senior class. A toast for the juniors was given by Leah Alivard.

Music was provided during the banquet and for dancing which followed by the "Silver Town Cord orchestra." Alex Jacobson and Lester Lindermuth contributed vocal selections. A piano and violin duet was played by Helen Weitenbach and Dorothy Haas and duets were sung by Miss Haas and Hildegard Werschem. Local solos also were rendered by Cordell Rust and His Nagel. The radio special quartet composed of Alex Jacobson, Walter Ditter, Carl Grimm and Lester Lindermuth closed the dinner hour program after which the orchestra "broadcast" dance music until 11:30.

GIRLS TAKE MALE PARTS IN PLAY

Training School Students Present "It Looks Like Rain" Next Tuesday

Kaukauna—Members of the senior class of Outagamie Rural Normal school will present their annual class play "It Looks Like Rain" a three act comedy, next Tuesday evening, May 26 in the high school auditorium. Rehearsals have been conducted under the direction of W. P. Hagman. The play is the one which was to have been given during the year but which was put off because of the illness of Miss Luella Bronson who was directing the production at that time.

The plot deals with the adventures of a youth who has inherited $30,000 of a fortune and who is eligible to be remainder provided his legacy can be proved to a million within a certain period of time. Although there are several male students in the school all parts are being taken by girls. The cast follows:

Elmo Armstrong, Monty's cousin, Hazel Loos, Town of Ellington.

TROOP 1 OF SCOUTS HOLDS FIRST MEETING

Kaukauna—Troop No. 1, Kaukauna Boy Scouts will hold its first meeting of this year Wednesday evening in its cabin in Black's woods along the Fox River. This troop recently was taken over by the Kaukauna Legion post. Previously it was maintained under the auspices of the Methodist church with Frank M. Charlesworth, Jr., as scoutmaster. Edward Renneke is the new scoutmaster and Ves Berens and Edward Hiss are assistant. Plans will be made for the scout rally in Menasha Saturday, May 23.

Thus far there has been little scout activity except in Reformed church where attempts are being made to organize a troop. A meeting of boys was called last week but the attendance was too small to begin operations. Another meeting will be called soon by George Seifert who is taking charge until a troop is formed.

COUNCIL AWARDS CONTRACTS FOR SEWER PROGRAM

Accepts Bids of LaMarche for Concrete and Roemer Bid for Vitrified Tile

Special to Post-Crescent
New London — Contract for nearly 2,600 feet of 48-inch concrete sewer pipe was given to F. J. LaMarche, of this city, at the meeting of the city council Tuesday evening. Mr. LaMarche's bid, the only one entered was $7.57 per linear foot, amounting to over $9,000.

This pipe will be used chiefly in the completion of the Oshkosh-sewer project, as the old cement block pipe has been discarded, and the concrete substituted.

Mr. LaMarche had made a point of bid, but when learning just what was wanted, was forced to raise his bid from 7.00 to $7.57 per foot on the 48 inch pipe.

This was strongly objected to by Alderman Meinhardt, who protested that it was unfair to the city. However, as no other bid had been submitted, the city council considered that it was a fair one, and accepted it. Mr. Meinhardt also called attention to the fact that half of the city's order of segment block pipe ordered from E. H. Ramm, was still undelivered, and that the city could not in any fairness, cancel the order with Mr. Ramm, which they are attempting to do. Mr. Meinhardt was the only alderman who voted against giving the contract to Mr. LaMarche.

Contract for all of the other sewer pipe, of rectified tile, was awarded to the Roemer Lumber Co. The contract amounts to several hundred dollars. Others who bid on vitrified pipe were E. H. Ramm, the Illinois and Wisconsin Pipe and Tile Co. and the Pribnow Electric Co.

The new dog ordinance was passed Tuesday evening. It was drawn up to conform with the statutes and affects dogs running astray between the dates of May 1 to September 1 of each year.

It is a criminal offense, subject to a fine of from $1 to $10, or a jail sentence not exceeding 30 days, or both, for any person to allow his dog, whether licensed or unlicensed, to roam the streets of New London between sunset and sunrise. Any person seeing one thus running loose may catch it and turn it over to the chief of police or someone designated by him.

Dogs captured will be impounded for 5 days, after which if the dogs have not been called for by their owners, who may have them for $1, they will be killed.

A petition by the Ladies' Aid society of Holy Trinity Lutheran church, to maintain a refreshment stand at the city park during band concerts, was granted.

A vote of thanks was received from the village of Hortonville, for the service the local fire department rendered a short time ago.

A petition by Victor Thomas, for a side walk on N. Pearl-st. was referred to the board of public works.

A petition of William Garot, to erect a 4-inch iron pole in the curbing in front of his establishment, for an electric sign, was granted. A petition of property owners on Smith-st. to have Smith-st. from Beacon-ave to Pine-st. treated with gravel, was referred to the board of public works.

The board of public works was also instructed to investigate the advisability of purchasing or leasing of a tourists' camp site, from W. J. Butler. The place is located about a mile west of the city, the site of the old Red House, and contains three acres.

Minkbeize collected $25 in singles with a $22 score.

FOR MOVIE

Marselles, where the dregs of every seafaring nation in the world mingle in the dance halls, where sailors and the women outcasts of all nations try to forget their troubles in wild and never-ending gaiety, is reproduced in Norma Talmadge's new photoplay, "The Lady."

Norma has two roles, one of a 1900 flapper—a pretty soubrette in a London theatre—and the other of a disillusioned expatriated mother maintaining a cafe just behind the battlefront during the Great War.

"The Lady" is a First National production produced by Joseph M. Schenck. It will be shown at the Bijou Theatre for the last time 10:15 P.M.

Her girl friend, she said, left the car with one of the men before reaching the city limits, while she remained to take a ride with the driver. Shortly after passing Calmes corners, the driver attacked her and she escaped only after a sharp tussle in which her clothing was torn and badly disarranged. Heartburn, Pressure Around Heart, Palpitation, A Feeling of Fullness, Shortness of Breath

THIS SIMPLE 3-MINUTE TEST TELLS WHAT'S WRONG

While there are many people who really have Heart Trouble, there are many thousands more who are literally "scared to death" because they think they have it.

To live in constant fear of Heart Failure is a terrible handicap, especially when probably 30 per cent of the self-diagnosed Bad Heart symptoms—Palpitation, shortness of breath, difficult breathing, a feeling of fullness or pressure around the Heart are mainly caused by a sour, gassy, upset stomach. To prove that this is true and that your past worries have been a sad mistake—simply make this three-minute test and watch results.

From any good drugist obtain a couple ounces of pure Bismarck Magnesia (either powder or tablets) and beginning with tomorrow take a teaspoonful of the powder or four tablets immediately after each meal—and, if the usual distressing symptoms fail to appear, you may safely rest assured that you have found your trouble. This is a pleasant, inexpensive test that seldom fails to relieve stomach distress. Gas, Sourness and Bloating disappear instantly, and a single trial proves its value! Be sure and ask Bismarck Magnesia, not a laxative.

FEAR POX WILL SPREAD IN STATE

Eight Deaths and Five New Cases Reported Tuesday in Milwaukee Epidemic

Eight persons died from small pox and five new cases were reported Tuesday in Milwaukee which is fighting a small pox epidemic of major size. Milwaukee health authorities are afraid the disease will spread into the state and drastic measures for confining the epidemic are being contemplated.

Forty-nine persons have died of small pox since January 1 and there now are 127 active cases in the city, it was reported Wednesday morning. In spite of the increase in deaths and the growing number of cases, Milwaukee health authorities are optimistic that they soon will be able to stem the spread within the city. Businessmen, schools and other agencies are cooperating with health authorities to prevent further spread of the malady and it is expected that tangible results soon will be seen.

Dr. John P. Koehler, formerly connected with Lawrence college, is commissioner of health in Milwaukee and in active charge of the battle against the epidemic.

The salary of the new motorcycle officer was fixed at $130 per month.

The finance committee was instructed to engage an auditor to go over the city books. This was done at the suggestion of Mayor N. G. The mayor made it plain he did not believe anything was wrong with the books.

The report of the finance committee recommending that $5,000 insurance be placed on each fire truck at an expense of $291 was accepted. City Attorney S. L. Spengler explained the new highway engineer to prepare a plat of the streets affected which was adopted.

AWARD CONTRACT

The contract for paving the interior of the first floor of the city hall was awarded to J. J. Moore, the only bidder, at $248. A bid submitted for street sprinkling was rejected. The city attorney was instructed to notify the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company to lower its crossing on Tayco street to the grade of the street.

The street committee was instructed to grade Appleton-st Broad-st to the public dumping grounds. Mayor Remmel called attention to bargain day which he predicted would surpass those of previous years and suggested that the aldermen participate in the celebration.

The mayor read an invitation from the League of Municipalities inviting the city officials to attend the annual meeting of the league at Madison May 27, 28 and 29. Those planning to attend were to make it known at the adjourned meeting Friday evening.

Upon inquiry on the part of the mayor it was learned that the city engineers were about ready to submit their plans of Tayco-st bridge to the government engineers at Milwaukee.

Mayor Remmel called attention to the dedication of the new Cherry-st bridge at Appleton and advised all the city officials to attend it.

Proper Food Makes Child Feel Peppy

Washington—There are thousands of "bad" children in the country today who don't need punishment. They need nutrition.

This is the belief of Dr. Louise Stanley, director of the U. S. Bureau of Home Economics.

She holds that "bad" character is often only the result of bad food. With every child, she says, there is a very definite connection between what he eats and how he acts.

And the actions of an improperly fed child are apt to correspond closely to his physical condition.

Her theory is based on the proposition that the human physical and mental structures are so closely allied that each is bound to react on the other.

A run-down, enervated body is almost sure to mean a run-down, enervated mind—and malnutrition means a run-down, enervated body.

"The under-nourished child is dull, nervous, irritable and bad-tempered," Dr. Stanley says. "He is behind in his school work, takes little interest in it, and is hard to discipline."

"Because of all this, he is probably known as 'bad.' His characteristics are considered natural. That is the way he is made—just as some children are made with blue eyes or curly hair!"

"As a matter of fact, he is simply laboring under the handicap of poor health, the result of improper feeding. His mind cannot function properly because his body is below par. His nerve resistance is weak because his physique is poor."

"He is apt to work under this handicap all through life. For even when he grows older, and the outward signs of malnutrition disappear, he remains weak in fibre, subject to physical ailments—and retains his mental quirks."

"Observe a well-nourished child—strong and sturdy and straight, full chest, white teeth and firm flesh."

"His bright eyes and keen expression show a healthy, happy mind."

"Then look at a child suffering from malnutrition—weak and scrawny and stooped, flat chest, bad teeth and flabby flesh."

"His listless expression clearly denotes his mental state."

"Can you blame him for being 'bad'?"

"Of course, some children are bad because of qualities they have inherited, because of wrong home atmosphere, or evil companionship."

"But in the country today are thousands of children who are 'bad'—so called—for just one reason: They don't get proper food."

LEATRICE JOY BACK TO SCREEN AS MAIN STREET BATTLES PARIS

Hollywood—With the war's end came the song:

"How you gonna keep 'em down on the farm After they've seen Paris?"

The song was tantalizing. It opened imaginative vistas of infinite comedy, yet failed to explore them.

The void is filled by Paul Bern, directing for Lasky, in his recently completed Paramount production, "The Dressmaker From Paris."

He has not failed to probe the potential comedy of the situation to the limit.

BEAUTY COURT

But the picture is not all comedy. Skillfully interwoven into this wisp of wool of pathos, dramatic suspense and a dual love story. Added to this is an elaborate fashion show, so well blended into the theme of the picture that it does not stop action to bore the menfolk, though it gives the ladies ample opportunity to study the latest Parisian creations. It is in these scenes that the "World Beauty Court" is used, 14 girls selected after an international search of months.

Leatrice Joy, returning to the screen after about a year's absence, is the most featured of a feature cast containing such names as Ernest Torrence, Allen Forrest and Mildred Harris.

A semi-preludial opening shows Paris in war days with an incident romance between Phil (Leatrice Joy) and Lieutenant Billy Brent (Allen Forrest).

With the war's end, Brent returns to Clarion, Ill., a town where nothing happens but dawn and dusk.

SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

Breakfast—Stewed prunes, cereal, thin cream waffles, maple syrup, crisp Graham toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Creamed codlins, rye bread, shredded lettuce, coconut cookies, milk, tea.

Dinner—Baked spaghetti and veal, head lettuce with Thousand Island dressing, stuffed figs with whipped cream, sponge cake, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

A baked potato and broiled lamb chop should be provided for the noon meal for children under school age.

A dish of cereal or a bacon sandwich, tender leaves of lettuce without dressing, a fig without the "stuffing" but with whipped cream, sponge cake, bread and butter and milk furnishes a wholesome, easily digested evening meal without much effort on the mother's part for these same small portions.

Creamed sardines are quite as good cooked in the chaffing dish when the "crowd" drops in for supper.

CREAMED SARDINES

One large can sardines, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1½ cups milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, triangles of crisp toast, parsley.

Remove skin and bones from sardines. Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Add salt and paprika and bring to the boiling point. Add sardines and keep hot over hot water. Arrange toast on a hot platter, pour over creamed sardines and garnish with sprigs of crisp parsley.

COCONUT COOKIES

One egg, ¼ cup sugar, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 cup milk, ½ cup grated coconut, 3 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Beat egg well. Add sugar and softened butter and beat well. Stir in coconut and milk. Mix and sift flour and baking powder and add to first mixture. Set on ice to chill. Roll on a floured molding board. Sprinkle dough with grated coconut and roll lightly again. Cut with a small cookie cutter and bake 12 minutes in a moderate oven.

RAVIOLE, SPAGHETTI AND VEAL

Four tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons olive oil, 2 cloves garlic, 1 cup dried mushrooms, 2 cups chopped veal, 2 cups canned tomatoes, ½ teaspoon thyme, bay leaves 1½ cups spaghetti, salt and pepper.

Soak mushrooms in water until soft. Cook garlic in butter and oil until brown. Add mushrooms and water. Add meat, tomatoes, thyme and bay leaves. Simmer below the boiling point until meat is tender, about three hours. Season with salt and pepper. Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water for 20 minutes. Drain and blanch. Put a layer of spaghetti in a buttered baking dish. Cover with a layer of meat and gravy. Continue layer for layer until all is used. Bake in a moderate oven for 20 or 30 minutes.

CRAZY QUILT HATS NOW

Grandmother used to sew odd shaped patches together and make what she called crazy quilts. The milliners now do the same thing. Here is a new French creation, made of triangular patches in different colors. The effect is futuristic, but very chic.

NATURE PLANNED MEN BACKGROUNDS SAYS MISS CADES

From a selfish feminine viewpoint men should be allowed to be as homely as possible, says Hazel Rawson Cades, in the Woman's Home Companion. No woman's ends are served by beautifying the male sex. I've always said, and I always will, that any girl who marries a handsome man is indiscreet. She embraces a competitive course in life which is out of proportion to the pleasure she will get in looking at her husband.

Men were meant to be backgrounds. That's what nature intended when she laid out their 6-foot bulk and made them look well in crowd heads and linen collars. The comparatively small number of them who take the center of the stage with Valentino hair cuts or checked waistcoats only seem to make more noticeable the solid conservatism of the mass.

The ideal man among women today, if you're to believe your eyes and ears, is a large and rather quiet person who possesses good looks physical rather than facial (to make a forced distinction). Whose grooming is impeccable but not noticeable. And whose clothes are worn as befits an admirer of modified English tailoring.

Gone is the sick matinee idol of twenty years ago. Gone the small waxed mustache and pinched-in waist. Gone, or at least showing signs of exit, the Gibson man of obvious physical development. And even tatter on his nose, the self-selling sample of clean-cut young American manhood with the go-get-'em tendencies.

We have with us today a great many "dumb" young men. I'm sure you've noticed them. They're a sad. You can tell them by their pale blue neckties, the width of their trousers, and their intentional air of indifference. In the words of a favorite song, "The rims of their hats go slippy flap, and so do the soles of their shoes."

They are, as I've said, a phase. They'll grow up into good backgrounds. Meantime all they can do is to improve. And if, as we hope, they are to approach the ideal, there are some things that they should know.

Men are—as has often been said—

funny. They never take a hint that they need cold cream on their faces. They let themselves get fat as no woman would dare. And then they go into a rage about the set of a dress tie and tear up collar after collar that doesn't hug their Adam's apples as they think it should. Do you wonder that it's hard to tell whether they are really pleased with themselves or just not interested?

They have, however, one good looks weakness. If you don't believe it, mention hair to them and see what happens.

ABUSES IT AND LOSES IT

Another queer one is the problem why, when a man loves his hair so much, he treats it so badly. Why he runs with it to every shower bath he sees, and washes off the oil supply. Why he keeps his hat on whenever he can, uses anybody's comb, wears everybody's hat, and is at the mercy

LETTER FROM SALLY ATTENTION TO BE SUMMERS, CONTINUED

I am afraid that John Alden Prescott is riding for a fall and if he is I hope to be here to see it for great will be the fall thereof.

But enough gossip about my boss. I have troubles and annoyances of my own.

You know that kid cousin of Sam's who thought he was in love with me—well, he spends all his time with that horrible woman Mable Carter, and, of course, since he knows my attitude in the matter he pays no more attention to me. Seems he pays no more time seriously. I almost have a fellow feeling for Mr. Prescott. I'd like to cut loose for a day or two. I don't mind confessing to you, Leo, that if it hadn't been for Leslie, I think I would have gone to dine with my "Boss."

Poor Jim! Looking into her eyes he does not see the thinnest, cruelest I have ever looked upon.

You know he is working as assistant to Mr. Prescott and if any scandal should come out about him my boss would drop him like a hot cake.

So you like it out in Hollywood. I should think you would find some very amusing things happening from time to time. Do write and tell me about them. Seems he pays no more time seriously. I almost have a fellow feeling for Mr. Prescott. I'd like to cut loose for a day or two. I don't mind confessing to you, Leo, that if it hadn't been for Leslie, I think I would have gone to dine with my "Boss."

Life is getting too stuporous and business too engrossing. I think I'll have to sneak some man to my charmed wheels. I wish I didn't care so much for Leslie. I would never have written that sentence to anyone but you, thank God in all this world

Adventures Of The Twins

BIMBO THE CLOWN

"Yes," said the Circus Manager to the March Hare and the Twins. "It is time for the circus to get ready for spring, so it can go around to the cities and let people see it. Will you please find my clowns for me. Bimbo is the best clown of all. You'd better look for him first."

"We'll go at once," said the March Hare, putting his book away and folding up his glasses. "Come on, children, jump on my back and we'll be off."

Away they went to look for Bimbo, the clown.

First they went to the Hippodrome—a great theater in New York where people do all sorts of acts.

"Is Bimbo here?" the March Hare asked the man at the ticket office.

The man was so accustomed to seeing and hearing strange things in that place where people were always doing and saying strange things, that he thought nothing of it when a large hare, larger than any Jack Rabbit he had ever seen, suddenly spoke to him in plain English.

"No, he was here two weeks ago, but he's gone," said the man. "You might try the Million Dollar Theater in Cleveland."

"Thank you," said the March Hare. "Hop on again, children. There is no time to lose, and from New York to Cleveland is quite a step."

Away they went, the three of them, down Broadway until they came to the end of New York. Then they swam a river—a great wide one—as easily as you can slide down the end of a bath tub. For with so much magic along, one can do anything, really.

And then off they went like the wind again, and after while they reached Cleveland.

And then they went happily together along Euclid avenue until they came to the Million Dollar Theater.

"Is Bimbo the clown here?" the March Hare asked the ticket man.

"Yes, he's here. He is back in the dressing room now getting ready for his act," said the man.

"Come," said the March Hare and he marched right in and went

CAL LEAPS FOR CURB TO DODGE CHARGING CARS

President Forced to "Step Lively" to Escape Anihilation in Washington

BY CHARLES F. STEWART

Washington—Calvin Coolidge has about exploded the theory that it is fatal to be elected president of the United States.

STEWART

Instead of wasting away under his present job, his health is sounder today than when he moved into the White House—probably because he has taken especially good care of it since then. It's his predecessors who succumbed to the idea that worry, not work, killed the cars of office.

One thing he may die from is being hit by an automobile. Anybody may miss it by a rather narrow margin a few days ago. That is, he missed being hit, not necessarily killed. It would be a great honor to any motorist to run over the president of the United States. President Coolidge, however, refused to confer it on anybody. That cold New England temperament of his!

He was taking one of his almost-daily afternoon walks, with his usual plain-clothes guard. Hiking southward down Connecticut avenue, they came to the point where it intersects Rhode Island avenue and M street—a mean place.

The cop had the east and west traffic held up, to let it pass up and down Connecticut. It looked like a good time. The president and retinue stepped on the curb and got nearly half way across the road.

At that juncture, the cop, of course entirely indifferent to the fate of pedestrians though perhaps he'd have made an exception in the president's favor if he'd known it was he, turned the traffic.

The plain clothes men are big, husky chaps who'd fight a lion in the president's defense but they knew there was no hope of stopping that herd of charging automobiles. The whole party simply turned ignominiously and streaked it for the curb they'd just left.

Well, they got there, somebody's mudguard grazing one of the plain-clothes men's leg. The president didn't so much as flinch in his college days and spectators of this incident say it's too bad. They feel sure he would have beaten all records for any known variety of jump.

INVITE CANNERS TO MAKE USE OF LAKE HOUSEBOAT

Outagamie-co pea canners and growers have been invited to make the Green Pod, a large houseboat moored near Fond du Lac, their home whenever they like this summer. The Green Pod will be used as headquarters of the canning industry during the coming season and Fond du Lac was chosen as harbor because of its central location.

The houseboat is owned by a group of eleven pea canners. George Schroeder of Wisconsin is commodore, William Thomas of Randolph vice commodore and G. F. Bones of Milwaukee captain. The boat has commodious sleeping quarters and carries two chefs and a number of stewards, and is said to offer all the comforts of home.

RIPARIAN BILLS UP TO CONGRESS

Congressman Lampert Urges Flood Committee to Be Ready to Go to Washington

Congressman Florian Lampert has advised his constituents by letter that in order to press the claims of riparian owners against the United States for high water damage, congress must pass a special act and suggests he that the best method to get congress to settle these claims will be along the lines in which the old ones were handled.

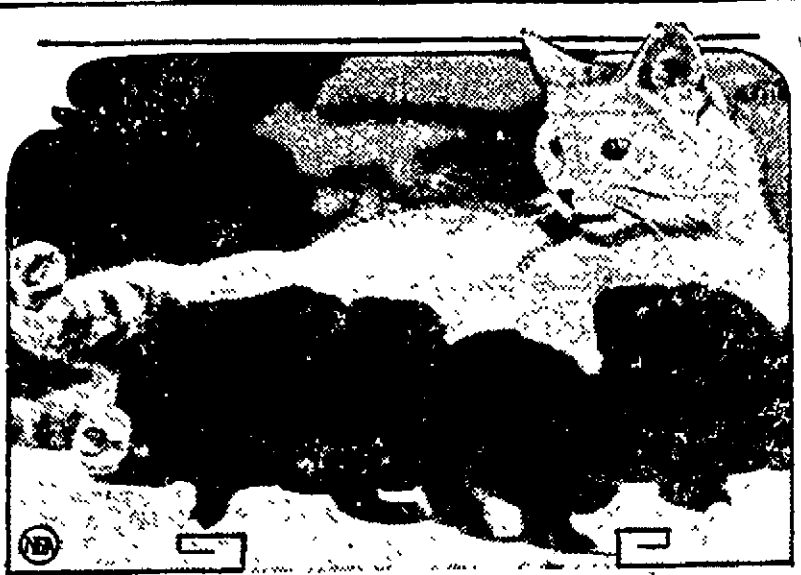

In his letter, Mr. Lampert said in part: "It was impossible for me to get a hearing on the damage claim bill at the last session of congress, as no legislation of this kind was passed. Some work has been done on this bill and a new bill will be introduced by me at the next session of congress."

BETTER TO SETTLE
Mr. Lampert said also: "I did succeed, however, in getting a written opinion from the legal advisor of the war department, to the effect that a suit can be brought against the United States government, for flood damage, in the court of claims, but this would be very expensive and a long fight."

He urged riparian owners to have their committee ready to appear at Washington when he calls for it, and assures them he will do all in his power to bring the bill up for passage. He also referred to the Shiocton cutoff as follows:

"You can consider yourself fortunate that congress ordered an investigation of this Shiocton canal proposition, and I am doing all I can to get the government to grant us this survey, so that relief can be given to the upper riparians. Do not let this movement die. I feel assured it will receive earnest attention from congress."

Crowning Of May Queen Is Center Of May Day Festival

Ellen Tutton, '25, of Palmyra, will be crowned as Lawrence's best-loved girl, the May Queen, as the central feature of May Day, to be celebrated at the college Friday. The present, this year written by Wanda Rusch, '25, of Appleton, has for its central part the crowning of the May Queen.

Dorothy Rohrer, Clintonville, and Florence Heator, Duluth, were elected attendants to the Queen. They will have parts in the pageant as the Spirit of Gayety and the Spirit of Study. Helen Henbest, Appleton, in the part of Lawrentia, will have an important speaking role. Ray Holdridge of Virginia, Minn., will act as counselor to Lawrentia.

College students will be dismissed from classes Friday, and the campus will assume a festive air. An extensive program has been arranged by the committees in charge of the day and this year's events promise to surpass those of other years in many ways.

For the first time in a number of years, a Titian-haired girl will be crowned May Queen. The first official all-college dance is also slated for the night of May Day, an innovation with this year's festivities.

Marvin H. Kell, president of the college senior class, is in charge of the day, and an effect of beauty rather than a carnival air is his aim. Miss Lora Miller is faculty adviser and director of the fête.

Solo and group dances will play a large part in the program. The morning's affairs also include the

POLICE WARN TO GET TAG FOR DOG

Fido Owners Will Be Arrested Unless They Procure Licenses, Prim Says

Prosecution of dog owners who are delinquent in their dog taxes is about to commence. It is threatened by Chief George T. Prim of the Appleton police department.

Following a checkup of dogs with the city assessment list, the police department has ascertained that of the approximately 725 dogs in the city there are still between 70 and 80 that are unlicensed. The number of licensed dogs in the city is 648.

Final warning will be given by the chief of police to all delinquent dog owners that if the tax is not paid within one week, he will turn over the list to the district attorney for prosecution.

By the term "dog owner" is understood also everybody that is harboring a dog, although he has paid out no money for the purchase of it. The tax required by the statutes is $2 for a female dog and $1 for a male dog or spayed female.

Thus far the police department has had few occasions to shoot unlicensed dogs. Dogs not wearing collars with license tags are not always unlicensed, the chief points out. The policy of the department is that when it finds a stray dog without a license, it holds the dog for a few days, especially if it is a good breed, and advertises for the owner. If the owner is found he is ordered to get a license; if he is not located, the dog is killed.

APPLETON GIRL EDITS COLLEGE LATIN PAPER

The Lawrence Latinist, annual publication of the college Latin department, has made its appearance on the campus. The book was edited by Joan Mills, Appleton, a senior in college. Her associates were Margaret Lees, Hancock, Mich., and Bernice Butler, Kenosha, also college seniors.

A thousand copies of the Latinist have been printed. Most of these will be sent to Wisconsin high school, a wide territorial circulation and a good advertising medium for Lawrence. The front cover is a picture of a chapel window, while the back cover contains a picture of a corner in the Latin library. It is printed on smooth and glossy paper.

The publication contains pictures of Mary Morton, Marinette, and Helene Peterson, Green Bay, winners of this year's Norman Brokaw prize in freshmen Latin competition. Contributors to the issue include Joan Mills Orand, Bangsburg, Bernice Butler, Florence Roosen, Eleanor Smith among the undergrads, and Miss Edna Wlezand and Dr. A. H. Weston of the faculty. Contents include poems in both Latin and English, a Latin cross-word puzzle, several features on Latin life, and an article on the work of the American Classical League upon the present standing and value of classical education.

Who said speed was not possible—or safe—with balloon tires?

"Cannon Ball Baker" in his Rickenbacker Six, shattering one cross country record after another, has disproved all such theories and written a new chapter in motoring history.

Here is what he says:—

"Balloon tires are adaptable to high speeds, only provided the car is properly designed, in perfect balance, and possesses perfect steering qualities."

"Rickenbacker Six has all those qualities; therefore I can protect myself from many shocks with soft balloons and still driver faster than any other car has ever averaged over the same roads."

"If steering spindles are not scientifically designed, the car will shimmy."

"If springs are the old type—deeply cambered, short, choppy kind—the car will jump all over the road and have a tendency to leave it at curves."

"If car is not in perfect balance, rear end will be 'chasing the front' all the time."

"If frame is weak, rear wheel will not be able to follow true!"

"And, if brakes are not 100 per cent efficient—if they grab or jerk or skid the car when applied—then the driver must take turns faster than is safe if he would master his average. And, of course, taking a sharp turn at 50 or over is liable to 'roll' the balloons off."

"Rickenbacker steering, balance, springs and double depth frame, give a degree of stability, steering precision and ability to 'hold the road' to a degree I never have found in any other car."

"And the mechanical 4-wheel brakes, render it unnecessary to take turns at dangerous speeds."

"I can decelerate from 70 to 20 miles per hour in a few feet—take the sharpest curve, and then with this 65 horse power motor, get away again so quickly as to make an average which guarantees any record I go after."

ARLEN'S PIRACY IS BETTER THAN THE GREEN HAT

No Attempt at Malicious Nativism in Author's Epic of Modern Days

BY ELEANOR WING

Every once in a while, when a new novel flares across the sky with its brighter trail of light than its contemporaries, it is a good idea to look for the source of the flame. Of ten a surprise. This is so with "The Green Hat" and its predecessor, "Piracy," by Michael Arlen. Many people are still recovering from the shock of the former, and pursuing their lips at the mention of this diabolical writer's name. They admit the trail of glory "The Green Hat" has left across the sky; but they have yet to reason for the match that started the flame.

That incendiary germ may be found in "Piracy," published about a year ago by Doran. It is an epic of modern times, and has been lost in the shadow of the shallower brilliance of its descendant.

The ancient sentence from a polite age of the Victorian era: "Gentlefolk meet, complaints are exchanged," gives out the feeling—the mood—which is predominant in the earlier novel. Ivor Mallory turns every man or woman with whom he exchanges friendship into gentlefolk. He idealizes what he loves and through his interpretation, we watch others mould themselves to fit his ideals. Magdalene, Virginia, and Pamela Star are free of the taint of "gentlefolk," because we see them through Ivor's eyes. The unconventional incidents in the plot are not maliciously risqué as they are in "The Green Hat." They are only inevitable. Impulses are followed, and there is no calculated muddiness about their results.

Perhaps the finest thing in the book is the character sketch of the tarrish Ivor. It is a carefully drawn, and yet so frank that one is conscious of the inconsistencies, and consequently of the humanness of human nature. Aunt Moira, the grim old ancestor says that Ivor thinks too much, and thinking makes him angry. This cryptic remark is the key to Ivor's life. He has let thoughts master

Adventures In The Library

By ARNOLD MULDER

MORTAL AND IMMORTAL SATIRE

A short time ago I pointed out in an article in this series that humor is mortal or immortal in proportion as it is built out of temporary or eternal material. This is perhaps even more true of satire, or at least equally true.

Why are there satires scattered through all literatures that had the appearance of being great works of art in their own day but that leave us cold and that no one reads unless he is forced to do so as a matter of academic study? Why on the other hand are there satires that were first given to the world but that we of today, hundreds of years later, read with the same relish with which they were received by the people who lived when they were written?

The answer is so simple as hardly to require statement. The former deal with temporary material and are hence necessarily mortal; the latter are made of stuff that is indestructible and, being written with an art that is commensurate with the subject matter, they are for the ages.

STEPPED ON TOES

Dean Swift's work illustrates both kinds, although for the most part the latter. Swift in addition to being a great writer was a politician of his day who was always on the lookout for the main chance. In those days as in ours politics was made up fundamentally him, and although he rebels at us, he does not fight against it with actual fist action. His power and function in life seem to be to call out the finest actions in other people.

If you have read "The Green Hat" and liked the language of the Psalms, but hated the sordidness of the plot, shove it aside, and put "Piracy" in a conspicuous place above it on your bookshelf. For the earlier book is a shining mirror of the twentieth century which has grown old before it had a chance to be young! And the "Green Hat" is only a fragment of that mirror, glittering, it is true, but still only a crooked bit. And the broken bit was not taken from the center of the mirror. When you think about it, you'll see that it is frightfully askew.

mentally largely of aquabbles and petty fights for place and power, and Swift in his attempts to get the owners of those toes did a lot of stamping in return.

But Swift had one advantage over them. He was artistically articulate and he could sting and burn and scorch his political enemies with a phrase that set whole nations laughing. He became one of the most cordially hated and feared men of his day and he castigated his enemies in his satires with a recklessness that is astonishing.

But the petty political squabbles of a couple of hundred years ago in England mean nothing to us. The very names of the political parties have become meaningless. For the most part, as for the personalities that were the subject of his attacks, most of them we have never heard of and they are only names on a printed page, obscurely hidden in a footnote perhaps.

DIED QUICKLY

That kind of satire in the books of this greatest English master of satire is dead and gone. If he had written no other kind his name would not have survived any better than that of a tenth rate poet of his day. The material of his satire was of the moment, hence mortal, hence incompressible and dead to the generations that followed.

But a large body of the work of Swift was satire of another brand. Most of "Gulliver's Travels" is satire on human beings in general. Now the average human being in Swift's day acted exactly as the average human being does in our day. When Swift punished a particular politician of the opposing party whom he happened to dislike and made everybody in his own party cheer and throw his hat into the air he probably had a sense of triumph and felt that he had made a great hit. But we don't know that politician and care nothing about him; hence we don't care a hang about Swift's hit. But when he stings and scorches man as a political animal or as a religious animal or as any other kind of animal, we know what he is, talking about and if the satire is written with sufficient art we applaud as loudly as the people of his own day did. For men and women act and think and feel today exactly as they did in Swift's day.

MEMORIAL WILL HONOR OLD PRINCIPAL HERE

A memorial in honor of the late A. B. O'Neil, at one time principal of Fourth district school in Appleton and for 25 years principal of Oshkosh high school, is about to be established in the latter city.

A committee has been selected from the faculty, the student body and the principals to organize the movement. It is planned to establish an honorary society, similar to college Mortarboard and Mace societies, which will recognize and take into membership students who show ability in leadership, citizenship and general usefulness for the high school. The honor will be conferred on juniors and seniors. Another plan would be to give financial aid through a scholarship award.

The same thing is true of all the great satirists. Cervantes is remembered and admired today because he made unmerciful fun of the same follies that you observe in your next door neighbor or, if you are unusually honest, in yourself perhaps. He has lived through the centuries because the material out of which he built his satire was indestructible. Every generation has many satirists but their mortality is very great. Their art alone cannot save them. Their art must be expended on stuff that is durable.

NEBRASKA MAN BUYING OUTAGAMIE-CO CALVES

O. H. Liebers of Nebraska, is spending a few days in Outagamie-co where he is buying calves for a big calf club project which is about to be started in his home state. He is buying the calves from the county cow testing associations where he has the entire record of the dams. He spent part of Tuesday consulting with R. A. Amundson, county agricultural agent.

Dogwood is a shortened form of daggertwood. It was so called because it formerly was used to make daggers, which held meat together while it was roasted over a fire. The fire loss in the United States is approximately $500,000,000 a year.

27 Million Families; 17 Million Automobiles— in the U. S. A.

THE Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is one of the outstanding successes of American industry.

It interprets success not from the balance sheet alone, but from the achievement of its ideal to produce gasoline and oil in sufficient quantities to meet all demands, and to sell these products at prices all can afford to pay.

Each year the registration of motor-driven vehicles increases, and with each increase comes a tremendous additional demand for gasoline and oil.

It is the business of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to meet this ever-increasing demand. To do this its facilities must be kept constantly ahead of current requirements.

The latest figures for 1924 give our national automobile registration as 17,740,236. When it is considered that there are but 27 million families (approximately) in our country, it is easy to see that the family enjoyment of the automobile is nearly universal.

We take great pride in the advance of our automobile industry but the vast expansion of this enormous business would have been impossible without the foresight, initiative, hard work and sound judgment of the oil industry generally, and the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) particularly.

For this universal employment of the automobile, a constantly dependable supply of oils and gasoline at low prices is necessary.

The business of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has prospered because it has served the millions—because its service has been honest, sincere, tireless and efficient—and because the basis of this service has been to hold down prices, and to be satisfied with small profits per item sold.

Such service has given impetus to the rapid growth of the automobile industry and this service has been a fundamental contribution to the splendid civilization we see around us today.

Changing The Definition Of "Lost"

Noah Webster says it means "gone from one's possession."

We say it means "Not advertised for in the Post-Crescent's Lost and Found Column."

And—judging from the results that these little Classified Ads are getting every day—it looks as though we were right.

It's not hard to account for the success of the Post-Crescent's Lost and Found Classification. It's based on the simple facts that nearly every finder is honest and that his first move will be to look through these ads to find out who lost the article he has just found.

The real proof of this is in the time—next time you lose something of value, call 543 and ask for an ad-taker.

FUNNY PLOT IN SENIORS' PLAY

Surprise for Audience on Climax of "His Majesty Bunker Bean"

The plot of the Appleton High school play "His Majesty Bunker Bean," which will be presented next Tuesday evening in Fischer's Apartment theatre, centers around a wild idea which Bunker Bean has picked up somewhere that years before he had been a great man. He relies on the work of a medium, the countess to find out about his past and has deep belief in the spirit world. It is made all the more ridiculous because of its absurd sincerity. Bunker is an unemployed clerk in Pop Breede's office at the opening of the play, and he is making the sport of the other clerks. These fellow workers of his form a scheme, planned by Bunker's expense, which they believe will afford them a great deal of amusement. The outcome is a surprise for them, and also for the audience.

Herman Brockhaus plays the part of Pop Breede. He has been at outstanding figure in the dramatic and public speaking work in Appleton high school, winning first place in the Fox River Valley Oratorical contest at Manitowish, and the Fox River Valley Extensive contest at Sheboygan. He also has taken many dramatic parts, playing a leading role in the Junior class play.

Clarence Wells who is playing the part of Bunker, took part in the dramatic play and won the Hyde delectatory medal this year. Alan, Woodward playing Bunker's secretary, a big hit in the Operetta, "The Nautical Knot." George Hoffmeier also taking part, won second place in the actual Heiss contest.

BLINDFOLDED MEN TO PICK THEIR PARTNERS

Woodlawn Parent-Teacher association will hold its monthly meeting Wednesday evening in the Woodlawn school. The meeting was postponed from Tuesday to avoid a conflict with a wedding to which most of the members of the association had been invited. A novelty will be the blindfolding of the men while they choose lunchboxes. The men will have as partners the women whose lunchboxes they pick. One of the questions to be discussed at the meeting will be the raising of money for installation of an electric light at the front of the schoolhouse.

HEART BALM CASE THROWN OUT OF COURT

Angered when testimony of Wilhelm Becker, aged 66, of Kaukauna, in her breach of promise suit against her "star" boarder, Walter Stein, was of such nature that even her own attorneys, Mark Catlin and C. E. Behnke, withdrew from the case, Judge A. M. Spencer threw the complaint out of court Wednesday morning.

The trial was a continuous round of objections the part of the defendant's attorney Joseph LeFevre of Kaukauna. LeFevre objected to almost every question asked of the plaintiff. Attorneys Catlin and Behnke became disgusted when the testimony Mrs. Becker gave on the stand proved to be entirely different from what she had told them before the trial started and on which they were basing their plea, and withdrew from the room. Stein had been hoarse at the Becker house for nine months.

Appleton Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters are preparing to attend the Grand Lodge at Oshkosh on June 16, 17 and 18, which is one of the most important Pythian functions of the year. Approximately 700 delegates from all over the state are expected to attend the grand lodge, according to H. O. Batke, chairman of publicity at Oshkosh.

MAIL MESSENGERS LOSE JOBS IF THEY GET DRUNK

Drivers of mail trucks who are caught driving while intoxicated will be dismissed from the postal service hereafter, according to an order issued by Postmaster General New recently. Heretofore similar offenses have been punished by demotions in salary, but in order to avoid all such lapses in the future, the postal department has taken this drastic measure.

WHY BE RICH?

Here is a fellow who gets up and goes to work in the morning and he doesn't have to. Vernon Martin of Chicago, 20-year-old son of the millionaire parts manufacturer, in six months will be heir to $300,000. Yet every day he takes his place as a laborer in one of the plant's shops.

LEGIONAIRES URGED TO ATTEND SERVICE

Legionnaires are being sent out by John E. Hantschel, chairman of the American Legion "turnout" committee, urging a large attendance at the memorial ceremony which will be given for all Appleton patriotic organizations at the Congregational church Sunday morning. The Rev. H. E. Peabody, pastor of the church, issued an invitation to the organizations to attend his church this year.

The Legionnaires will meet at 11 o'clock at the Elk club and will attend the services in a body.

A farming implement has been invented which strips rice from stalks in the fields, so that the straw can be harvested separately.

THIS WOMAN'S RECOMPENSE

"I was so weak and nervous I could hardly do my housework," says Mrs. Harry Ashcroft of Covington, Ky. "I could not stand because of the bearing-down pains in my back and abdomen. One day I read how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped others and decided to try it. I wanted to praise this wonderful medicine for the health and strength it has given me and ask other suffering women to try it." This is the one great dependable medicine for women's ills. Adv.

Sportsmen Expect Chicks Will Be Hatched Out by First Part of June

Sportsmen of Outagamie-co are eager to see the outcome of their experiment in propagating ring-necked pheasants in the forests here, and the first setting of eggs is expected to be hatched on or about June 1. The last settings arrived about a week ago and were distributed to farmers in the county for hatching. The total number of eggs now set is 172. Of these 12 are Mongolian pheasants eggs, presented to the Outagamie-co Fish and Game Protective association by several of its members, while 160 are ring-necked pheasant eggs.

As the eggs were shipped from a considerable distance it is expected that many of them will be spoiled. The purpose of the association this year, however, was merely experimental and the sponsors of the movement will be satisfied if only a few birds are hatched. The cost of the eggs to the association was about $55.

Many members of the association favor the purchase of adult birds next year. The ring-necked pheasant is said to be very prolific, and the number of eggs laid by a hen in a season would more than cover the expense of her purchase, and the eggs probably would bring better results than those shipped in from a distance.

Cherries first were brought to Europe from Kerasunt, on the Black Sea, by Lucullus about 70 B. C.
